

Linguistische Treffen in Wrocław, vol. 23, 2023 (I)
edited by
Iwona Bartoszewicz, Joanna Szczęk, Artur Tworek

Contents

I. Current Linguistic Issues

1. MICHAEL BREYL: The Linguist's Guide to Human Fallibility and Biases: their Evolution, Cognitive Significance and Impact in Decision Making
2. JUSTYNA DOLIŃSKA: Particle Verbs as Pleonasms?
3. JUSTYNA DUCH-ADAMCZYK: Linguistic and Graphic Design of the Headlines on the Corona Virus in the Online Tabloid Press in German and Polish
4. MONIKA HORNÁČEK BANÁŠOVÁ, MÁRIA JEŠÍKOVÁ: Communication ÜBER / PER / VIA Internet, Chat, SMS and E-mail. How Can these Digital Ways be Expressed?
5. JOACHIM LIEDTKE: Form Focus versus Content Focus: On the Use of CALL+ as an Instrument for Determining the Optimal Degree of Contextualization in L2 Lexical Learning
6. SIMON MEIER-VIERACKER, FRIEDERIKE FISCHER, JAN LANGENHORST: Counteriness. Features of Counter Speech in Online Debates on Political Correctness
7. RENATA NADOBNIK: Conventionalised Patterns of Language Behaviour at the Polish-German Border Crossing, from a Diachronic Perspective (incl. Examples of Speech Formulae in German)
8. GABRIELA RYKALOVÁ: Adjectives from a Pragmatic Perspective
9. SVEN SCHOONJANS: A Typology of IAW Phrases
10. JOANNA SMEREKA: Medieval wills of the burghers of Wrocław examined from the perspective of textual linguistics
11. GRAŻYNA STRZELECKA: On Business Communication in the late 19th and 20th Centuries: Foreign Language Terms in Historical Quotations from Business Press
12. AGNIESZKA WYPIORCZYK: The Selected Manipulative Speech Tactics in the Public Propaganda Speeches in the Nazi Germany. Analysis Using the Example of Total War Speech
13. TOMASZ ŻURAWLEW: The Portrayal of the Devil in the German language. An Axiolinguistic Analysis of Representative Phraseological Units

II. Contributions by Young Scientists

1. MATEUSZ DUCHLIŃSKI: Reflection of the Wende in the German vocabulary – Using the Example of Personal Names
2. KAMIL IWANIAK: Humour from the Cultural and Linguistic Perspective. Strategies Used to Evoke Humour in British and German Panel-shows
3. MAJA KNYCHALSKA: (Un)translatable Anglicisms in German Job Advertisements
4. PAULA MAGIERA: Characteristics of the Polish Pronunciation of Belarusians and Ukrainians on the example of the Sounds [ɔ], [w] and [tʂ]
5. LIDIA MOSKAL: Multi-word Units in Foreign Language Didactics. The Presentation of the PHRASEOLAB Project
6. KAROLINA OSTROWSKA: Culture-specific Expressions in German Travel Catalogues from a Translational Perspective
7. MAGDALENA PIASECKA-CHMIELNIK: The Linguistic Image of Love in French and Polish Phraseology
8. DOMINIK RUDZIŃSKI: Phrasems of a Mythological Origin in a Contemporary Language
9. KRYSTIAN SUCHORAB: On the Injury Potential of German and Polish Designations for Refugees – Analysis Using the Example of Internet Comments
10. LOUISE VAN WIJGERDEN: Motives for Choosing Foreign Language Studies – Using the Example of German Philology Students with a Ukrainian Background

III. Reviews

1. MARTA GIERZYŃSKA: Multiple Nominal Compounds in Contemporary German on the Basis of the Language of Medicine
2. ANNA GONDEK: New Look at the Translations of the Polish Criminal Code into German
3. ALINA JURASZ: Language Competence, Vocabulary Competence, Collocation Competence or how to Learn Collocations Consciously
4. MARCELINA KAŁASZNIK: A New Presentation of the Lexicology of German
5. JOANNA SZCZEK: New Media Genres and their Role in Contemporary Communication
6. RAFAL SZUBERT: A Border Crosser on a Joyride
7. JUSTYNA ŚLĘZAK: International Cooperation in Doctoral Education. Lehrmaterialien für Germanistik-Doktorandenkurse as Didactic and Content Support in Chosen Topics

IV. Reports

1. NELLI LEWCZYK: Report on the Popular Science Symposium Greenland – the Coveted Island Department of Scandinavian Studies, Institute of German Philology
2. ROMAN SORGER: Projekt zur Fremdsprachenausbildung von Universitätsstudenten an der Technischen Universität in Košice mittels Sprachapp