What is our aim and scope?

"Linguistische Treffen in Wrocław" (ISSN: 2084-3062, e-ISSN: 2657-5647, DOI: 10.23817/lingtreff) is an international journal that publishes only original scientific papers characterized by a wide range of topics in linguistic research. The journal was founded in 2007 as a yearbook and since 2019 has been published biennially under the patronage of the University of Wrocław by Oficyna Wydawnicza ATUT and Neisse Publishing House. All papers are subjected to a double-blind peer review process.

The aim of the journal is to provide a platform for the exchange of opinions of scholars from all over the world, who are interested in broadly understood linguistics. The journal also pursues the mission of facilitating the integration of scholars representing linguistics and promoting their research findings and achievements in the discipline. The journal publishes scholarly papers discussing new theoretical concepts and the results of recent empirical linguistic research, which may encourage scholars to conduct further analyses that contribute to the development of linguistic theories and linguistics itself.

In our journal we publish:

- papers representing linguistics in its broadest sense, but contributions of an interdisciplinary nature are also welcome,
- only original scientific papers containing ideas of the highest quality, theoretical discussions, and empirical research,
- We also accept reviews and reports of scientific events.

The articles are written in German, English and Polish. The journal is published in an electronic version (open access) without fees.

Research interests:

- linguistics
- general linguistics
- comparative linguistics
- applied linguistics

Articles will undergo an anonymous review process. After a positive review, the article will be published in one of the two annual volumes of the journal.

We look forward to receiving your contributions!

The answer is simple: LANGUAGE SCIENTISTS. If you are interested in linguistics, we invite you to familiarize yourself with the profile of our journal "Linguistische Treffen in Wrocław" and submit a paper to us. Contributions published in our journal will certainly be a valuable part of your scientific career.

Our invitation to publish is also addressed to:

- STUDENTS / DOCTORAL CANDIDATES: If you are just considering or want to start a scientific career, our journal "Linguistische Treffen in Wrocław" is undoubtedly the right address for you. We regularly publish articles by young scholars, students and doctoral candidates. Publication in our journal was the first scientific achievement for many authors and opened new opportunities for further development.
- PHONETICIANS / PHONOLOGISTS: If you are involved in phonetics and phonology, we especially invite you to publish a contribution in our journal, in the section Phonline. The section always appears in the second issue of the journal each year.
